FURY AS VILLAGE SURGERY IS AXED

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

WOOTTON residents who campaigned to keep the village's surgery from closing have described their anger at the decision it will shut on August 31.

Botley Medical Centre, who operate the Wootton Surgery, announced the upcoming closure on its website earlier this week.

It listed the poor condition of the surgery and the limited services it offered in Wootton as reasons for the closure.

At present, the surgery is open for five hours a week from its Besselsleigh Road site, with more than 300 patients registered at the branch.

The decision means that patients would have to go to Botley for appointments, or find an alternative surgery in Abingdon.

But Sue Srawley, chair of the Wootton Surgery Supporters' Group, was not prepared to give up in the residents' fight to keep the Wootton site open.

She said: "All is not lost yet, we're not prepared to meekly accept it.

"I think most of us were expecting the decision, but it doesn't mean that we aren't really angry about what's been put forward as the reasons for closure, and the way in which the consultation was so badly handled.

"There's a lack of surprise here because I think most people thought this was the intention from the outset."

A Botley Medical Centre statement said: "We'd like to reassure patients we will do everything we can to support our patients affected by this closure.

"We are confident that the new arrangements we will put in place will help to minimise any disruption to patients.

"We will provide flexible appointments for Wootton patients at convenient times to fit with the local bus timetable.

"For those patients who are unable to travel to Botley, we will provide more home visits."

Oxfam anti-fraud boss behind bars

OXFAM'S former head of counter-fraud has been jailed for two years and five months for stealing more than £64,000 from the charity.

Edward McKenzie-Green, 34, from Chipping Norton, was sentenced at the Old Bailey in London on Tuesday after pleading guilty to the theft in March.

A total of £64,612.58 was stolen by McKenzie-Green by paying the money from Cowley-based charity Oxfam to fake companies between February and December 2011.

He resigned from Oxfam in November 2011 with a £29,000 payoff, before being arrested in April 2012 and denying any wrongdoing.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Michelle Russell, head of investigations and enforcement at charity regulator, the Charities Commission, worked with Oxfam during the investigations.

She said: "We welcome the strong message the courts have given that those who abuse the position of trust they hold within a charity for their own personal advantage will be brought to justice.

"This acts as a reminder to all charities of the importance of ensuring you have basic financial controls and reporting mechanisms in place.

"The larger the charity, the more we expect you to do. But no matter your size or activities, be vigilant and do not be afraid to ask questions or raise concerns if you suspect something."

A statement by Oxfam's current head of counter-fraud, Oliver May, said: "Oxfam uses donations from the British people to help eradicate poverty and suffering across the world.

"For someone to commit fraud and use that money for their own selfish gains is clearly unacceptable.

"The actions of Edward McKenzie-Green were brought to light by Oxfam's own robust counter fraud measures, and we work tirelessly to ensure that money donated to Oxfam is not lost through the actions of rogue employees.

Oxfam is now working to recover the money stolen.

Police thanked the public for thier help in searching for the pair.

Recycling launched

BICESTER: A recycling partnership in the town is hoping to ensure that discarded items such as furniture and bicycles are reused, rather than becoming waste.

The scheme, set up by Oxfordshire County Council, Bicester Green sustainability centre and recycling group Viridor, aims to repair and refurbish items to sell them off again locally.

David Nimmo Smith, council cabinet member for environment, said: "The success of this partnership is really heartening as it is always better that something is reused than thrown away."

Attackers hunted

WITNEY: Two men who assaulted a group of four teenage boys in the early hours of May 17 are being sought by police.

Between 3am and 4am, the group of boys got off a bus at the corner of Burwell Drive and Colwell Drive, when one of them was pushed to the ground by the offenders.

Another boy was then kicked and pushed.

One of the victims had his phone stolen during the incident.

Police are appealing for anyone with information to call 101.

Man bailed after death

A MAN in his sixties has died after he was found in Deddington High Street at 12.30am last Friday.

The man appeared to have fallen into a sunken area in front of a basement window of a property in unexplained circumstances.

He was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. It is not thought to be suspicious.

Det Insp Steve Raffield said: "We are working to establish the circumstances around this unexplained death.

"The deceased is aged in his late sixties, about 5ft 6ins tall, of average build with short grey hair.

"I would appeal to anyone who may have seen a person matching his description in the area round the time of the incident or earlier in the night to contact me."

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101, or alternatively call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Play areas in town to get summer revamp

DIDCOT'S play areas are to be restored to their former glory in time for the summer holidays.

This follows a campaign by four students at Didcot Girls' School over the state of Ladygrove Park.

Amrita Sandhu, Dani Wild, Lily Woodley and Oliwia Nowak, all 14, were unhappy about abusive graffiti on the slide, broken swings, and the deterioration of play equipment which made the park "dangerous" to young children.

However, Didcot Town Council said it is aiming to fix the issues before the end of July when schools break up.

Brenda Andrews, outdoor services manager at the town council, said a new piece of equipment to replace a Mobius playground climber at Ladygrove will be "fitted shortly".

She also said the town council is waiting on the delivery of new swings for all the town's play areas.

"We endeavour to get all play areas complete before the summer holidays when they are heavily used and should be available to the public," said Ms Andrews.

"We do suffer physical vandalism on sites and that work has to take priority."

The girls, who campaigned as part of a citizenship project for school, met with Ladygrove ward town councillor Tony Harbour, to voice their concerns.

Dani said: "The main things that need looking at is graffiti and more equipment being added or made safer.

"Equipment is just being left and not being replaced or it is being damaged.

"It is unsafe for children and parents do not want their children using it."

The Year 10 students conducted a survey off 51 responses, with 56 per cent saying the park needed a general clean up.

Ms Andrews said graffiti is an "ongoing problem" across Didcot's parks.

By Jack Johnson

"The play areas are regularly inspected and we do have an outside inspection from The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents (RoSPA)," she said.

"Graffiti is a problem that all public areas suffer and we try and get that removed, but it is an ongoing problem.

"We do take our play provision seriously and are working towards improvements over time.

"However keeping it all pristine all the time is not attainable."

Didcot Town Council spent £17,474 on play area maintenance last year.

Development is debated

A DEVELOPMENT of 54 houses in Marcham village should be given permission because the Vale of White Horse has no Local Plan, council officers have recommended.

A decision on whether estate on the 6.15-acre field at Willow Farm south of Abingdon Road and Packhorse Lane will be given outline permission is due to be made tonight.

Councillors are to discuss the plans at Vale of White Horse District Council's planning committee meeting at 6.30pm at The Beacon in Portway, Wantage.

Officers recommended the plans for approval because of the lack of a housing plan in the Vale.

A report by council officers said: "It is accepted the proposal does not accord with the development plan. However, the proposal needs to be considered in the light of no up to date adopted local plan and the current shortfall in the council's five year housing land supply."

The recommendation come despite objections from Marcham Parish Council.

A statement from the parish council said: "As a relatively undeveloped site, it contributes significantly to the physical structure and character of the village.

"The site is a prominent point on entering the village."

It added: "The housing block proposed at the start of the site in the North-Eastern corner will create a sudden urban feel."

Birth of four baby Lemurs

KEEPERS are celebrating the births of two sets of Lemur twins at Cotswold Wildlife Park.

The park, located near Burford, is home to four new baby Ring-tailed Lemurs – two born on May 8, and two born in late March.

The youngest twins to mum Ma and dad Uba are still clinging onto their mother.

While the older twins to mum Hira and dad Uba have been playfully enjoying their primate enclosure.

Section Head of Primates, Chris Kibbey, said: "Ma is certainly an outsider in the group and arrived here with Youssou the Sifaka Lemur after she was pushed out of a previous Ring-tail group in another zoo.

"During the day she generally keeps her distance, but has integrated herself into the main Ring-tail group, so much so that the breeding male Uba successfully bred with her, resulting in the twins born on May 8."

The park is running a Lemur week until June 1, during which visitors can win the chance to name the new arrivals, along with numerous other events taking place at the site.

The annual event, which is now in its third year, aims to raise awareness and funds for the park's conservation projects.

UKIP double their MEPs in South East

THE UK Independence Party (UKIP) were the big winners of last week's European elections, gaining two MEPs for the South East England constituency.

Party leader Nigel Farage, Janice Atkinson, Diane James and Ray Finch were elected for UKIP, receiving 32 per cent of the vote for the region.

The Conservatives went from four seats to three, with Daniel Hannan, Nirj Deva and Richard Ashworth elected.

It was a disastrous campaign for the Liberal Democrats nationwide, with their one seat coming in the South East through Catherine Bearder.

Labour kept their one South East seat through Anneliese Dodds, as did the Green Party with Keith Taylor.

But despite the results, it was actually Labour who gained the most votes in Oxford, with a total of 13,015 out of just under 40,000 cast.

UKIP were only fifth within the city with 4,979 votes, with the Greens, Conservatives and Liberal Democrats all receiving more.

The next European elections are scheduled for 2019.

Strong showing for Labour in the city

LABOUR dominated last week's city council elections, retaining control of Oxford by winning 17 of the 25 seats on offer.

City council leader Bob Price was one of 14 Labour councillors to hold their seats at last Friday's count at Oxford Town Hall.

Meanwhile, the Liberal Democrats remain the opposition after winning five seats, while the Green Party won three.

Labour gained three wards - Headington Hill and Northway as well as St. Clement's from the Lib Dems, and Iffley Fields from the Green Party.

Farida Anwar became the first Bangladeshi to be elected as a city councillor after winning the Headington Hill and Northway vote.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"I feel excellent," she said, "I am very proud of all my community."

Despite popularity turning into seats elsewhere in the country, UKIP failed to win a council seat in Oxford.

However, they are now the opposition in three wards - Barton and Sandhills, Blackbird Leys, and Churchill.

UKIP candidate Ian MacDonald, who came second in the Barton and Sandhills vote, said he was pleased with the results.

"There are a lot of second places in Oxford and across the county," he said. "We are now the opposition in these areas and in the next election people will have a choice to vote for UKIP."

Meanwhile, Craig Simmons, leader of the Green group, was delighted to now have six members on the council.

Cllr Simmons said: "The size of our group has increased despite strong Labour showing which shows that people like our Green policies."

The Lib Dems lost three council members, but held both seats in the Summertown ward, ensuring their status as the opposition with nine councillors.

Liz Wade, who held her seat in the St. Margaret's ward, said: "We were aware there was a strong challenge from Labour and we have managed to hold it off.

"It has been a team effort."

The Conservatives, who have been absent from the council for 14 years, failed to win a seat, coming second in Headington Hill and Northway, Littlemore, Marston, and Northfield Brook.

Mark Bhagwandin, chairman of the Oxford Conservative Policy Forum, said: "We hope the momentum will continue. While the results are disappointing, I think we have started the ball rolling and we will not stop until we are back on the city council."

• Liz Wade celebrates with Lib Dem parliamentary candidate Layla Moran

Tories dominant in West

THE Conservatives kept their control of West Oxfordshire and Cherwell District Councils following last week's elections.

In West Oxfordshire, they gained three seats to hold 40 of the 49 available, while Labour also gained a seat to move from four to five.

Three Liberal Democrat and one independent councillor make up the rest of the council.

In Cherwell, the Conservatives lost a seat but still retain the council by holding 40 of the 50 seats.

Labour gained two councillors to move up to seven, while the Liberal Democrats lost their Kidlington South seat to leave just two representatives on the council. Independent Les Sibley holds the remaining seat.

Barry Norton, Conservative councillor and leader of West Oxfordshire District Council, said: "It was a very good result for us.

"I think we outperformed what was happening nationally to make gains at a time when in other places we were losing seats.

"We will continue to do our very best, what is right for a very special district and it's residents, and hopefully that trust we have earned, we will continue to keep."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Florey feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

'Promising life was cut short'

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A MASONRY company has been found guilty of corporate manslaughter at Oxford Crown Court, after one of its employees was crushed by a two-tonne limestone block in South Oxfordshire.

Cavendish Masonry Limited was convicted last Thursday after 23-year-old David Evans was killed while working at Well Barn Estate in Moulsford, near Wallingford, on February 9, 2010.

Mr Evans was crushed by the block after it fell off a concrete lintel. He was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital in Headington but died later that day.

The Bath-based company was found guilty of gross breach of duty of care in its management and organisation on site. A sentence will be made on July 3.

A statement released by the Evans family said: "Not a single day passes without us thinking of him and wondering what his life and our lives would have been like were he here today.

"While we know that this trial will not bring David back to us, we now know how and why he was taken from us, and how and why his promising life was cut so tragically short.

"We hope that this trial and the conclusions that are reached serve as an example to others in the industry."

Det Con David Edwards said: "I am very pleased with the outcome.

"Although nothing will ever bring David back, this conviction will provide the family with some sense of justice."

Following the verdict, Health and Safety Executive inspector Peter Snelgrove, who supported the police-led investigation, said: "David Evans' tragic death was completely avoidable.

"The stone toppled because its shape was such that it was potentially unstable when free standing, yet nothing was used to fix it in place.

"Drawings for the work were wholly insufficient, and the overall execution of the project fell significantly below the standard required and expected of a competent masonry company."

Robber jailed for Post Office raid in city

AN OXFORD man was jailed last Friday after he was convicted of robbing St Giles Post Office in Woodstock Road earlier this month.

Taffyn Betnay, 23, of Benouville Close, pleaded guilty to robbing the post office with another man, who is still unknown, on May 6.

During the robbery the unknown offender threatened a member of staff with what is believed to have been an extendable baton, before ushering members of the public out of the store.

Betnay restrained one of the customers before demanding the staff member to hand over cash.

Both then tried to flee on bicycles, but they were restrained by members of the public and subsequently ran away.

Investigating officer Det Con Charlie Ellis, of Oxford Force CID, said: "I would like to thank the members of the public who tried to apprehend the suspects as they left the scene.

"One offender remains outstanding and I would like to re-appeal to anyone who was in the vicinity of the post office and saw the incident to speak to police."

DELAYED plans for a £100m redevelopment of West Way shopping centre in Botley are due to be finalised in the next few weeks.

A planning application by developers Doric Properties was submitted to Vale of White Horse District Council in December.

But in February the council ruled Doric must also submit an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA).

Doric, which had said it would be finished in May, said last week it would now be finished "in the near future".

They appointed Abingdon-based environment consultancy company RPS Group to prepare the EIA.

The study will assess the impact the planned new shopping centre could have on Botley.

Doric wants to knock down West Way shopping centre, Elms Parade shops, Field House sheltered housing and the empty Elms Court office block to make way for a supermarket, cinema, health centre, gym, shops, 33 flats and 525 student rooms.

The developers this month announced they signed up to a partnership with international construction company Mace for the project.

The company has helped build development projects at Oxfordshire County Council's offices in New Street, Oxford University's Saïd Business School in Frideswide Square, and the Ashmolean Museum in Beaumont Street.

Co-owner of Doric Properties, Simon Hillcox, said of the partnership: "Having seen the breadth and depth of their experience in the Oxford area it was an extremely easy decision to partner with Mace.

"Their track record of delivering complex schemes on sensitive sites in Oxford is exemplary.

"We firmly believe that our partnership agreement brings us a step closer to delivering the revitalisation of Botley."

David Grover, the chief operating officer of Mace Investments, said: "The proposals will create a fantastic new district centre, bringing together a large supermarket, leisure opportunities and community functions to serve the west of Oxford community."

However, residents launched campaign group West Way Community Concern against the plans.

Of more than 800 people who responded to the public consultation over January and February 87 per cent opposed the proposals.

The plans are due to be considered by Vale's Planning Committee in the next few months.

Man bailed in suspected murder case

A MAN arrested on suspicion of the murder of 33-year-old Michael Stephen Broadway, who was found dead at a house in South Bridge Row, Oxford, on Sunday, has been bailed.

The man, 55, was arrested on the same day that Mr Broadway's body was discovered, and was bailed on Monday until July 25.

Mr Broadway's death is currently being investigated by police, who at present say the circumstances are unexplained.

A post-mortem examination on Sunday proved inconclusive, pending further toxicology and histology tests.

Anyone with information about the unexplained death is asked to call police on 101.

Dramatic rescue for George

A FOUR-YEAR-OLD boy has been rescued from the roof of his house, after he climbed through a window when he became stuck inside an upstairs bathroom.

George Groves was seen on the 30 foot high roof by a pedestrian in Slade Park, Oxford, on May 21, who then alerted the Fire and Rescue Service.

It is understood George was unable to open the bathroom door, and couldn't be heard by his mother who was downstairs at the time.

He climbed onto the toilet and through the open roof window, before shuffling 10 feet down the roof tiles and into the guttering, where he sat.

George was rescued unharmed soon after, and was soon smiling again after his ordeal.

The passer-by is now being sought by the family who want to thank him, as he left the scene shortly afterwards.

Burning food

BLACKBIRD LEYS: Fire crews were called to an unoccupied house in Juniper Road on May 21, after neighbours heard the smoke alarm going.

It was discovered that a pan of food had been left on the stove, but was not a danger to the house and was discarded safely.

The owner returned shortly afterwards.

Peacock killed

COWLEY: A peacock which got caught on the front of a car in Peterlee Road on May 20, had to be put to sleep.

It was badly injured by the accident. It is unsure how long it was stuck on the car's front when it was found at 5.45am.

RSPCA animal collection officer Dennis Lovell said: "We would ask drivers to be careful on the roads."

Crash on A40

OXFORD: A man was taken to hospital after a collision on the A40 between Headington and Wheatley last Thursday.

Only one car was involved in the crash, and the man had to be extracted from the car by the Fire and Rescue Service.

The incident is being investigated by police.

Firefighters honoured with national award

FIREFIGHTERS from Oxford have won a prestigious award after raising more than £14,000 by cycling 463 miles to Germany.

A team of 20 firefighters rode from Bonn Square in Oxford to the city of Bonn in Germany last July, passing through France and Belgium along the way.

They raised more than £14,000, which was donated to The Fire Fighters Charity.

And for their efforts, they won the Team of the Year category at the national Spirit of Fire Awards on May 16.

As well as completing the mammoth ride, firefighters have also been promoting cycle safety in primary school children over a nine month period.

David Etheridge, Oxfordshire County Council's Fire and Rescue Service's chief fire officer, was delighted with the honour.

He said: "I am extremely proud that Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue has been named Team of the Year.

"I would like to personally thank every member of my staff involved for the great effort that was put in raising the money through the cycle ride and for volunteering their own time to promote cycle safety to youngsters.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"The Fire Fighters Charity is an excellent charity which supports serving and retired firefighters and their families, and the Fire and Rescue Service is delighted to support it in any way that we can."

Louise Chapman, the council's cabinet member with responsibility for the Fire and Rescue Service, was delighted with their efforts.

She said: "Residents of Oxfordshire are fortunate that they have an extremely dedicated Fire and Rescue Service who go that extra mile to support the community.

"This award is recognition of the excellent work that is done locally.

"I would like to congratulate everybody involved."

Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue was also shortlisted as Brigade of the Year.

The county council was shortlisted as Corporate Supporter of the Year at the awards in Park Plaza hotel in Westminster.

Centre given TLC ahead of the summer

AN OUTDOOR education centre near Oxford has been given a spruce up ready for the summer.

Hill End Centre, in Eynsham Road, Farmoor, has seen volunteers clear an overgrown footpath, fences painted and the wooden walls of a dormitory structure preserved.

Nineteen staff from the Carillion Capita Partnership, who provide management services on behalf of Oxfordshire County Council, helped tidy up the centre.

Selby Dickinson, business and skills manager at Hill End, said: "We are delighted that Carillion and Capita provided an army of volunteers for this council-owned site.

"The team managed to get an enormous amount of work done.

"The kind donation of paint from decorating suppliers Johnstone's was also a real bonus."

Jess Stone, communications manager for the Carillion Capita Partnership, added: "The partnership is committed to investing in the local community.

"Staff who volunteered thoroughly enjoyed helping to make a little difference at a site Oxfordshire communities have to enjoy."

The centre offers residential visits, training courses and workshops who want to be closer to the natural environment.

Jumping out of a plane for charity

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

TWO West Oxfordshire volunteers are set to jump from 10,000 feet as part of a charity skydive to raise money for St John Ambulance.

Hannah Paish, 21, of Burwell Meadow in Witney, and Lewis Whittaker, 19, of Sturt Road in Charlbury, will both take part in the skydive on September 21.

The pair both volunteer at Witney's St John Amulance Unit.

They will be doing the tandem parachute jump at an airfield near Cambridge.

Hannah decided to take part in the skydive because she feels strongly about the charity's cause, especially after she went to the aid of a man two years ago, who had collapsed in a field near to her house.

Despite Hannah performing CPR, she was unable to revive him.

"I still think about the gentleman every day," said Hannah. "At the time it struck me that there were other members of the public there too, but didn't have the knowledge or the confidence to help.

• Lewis Whittaker and Hannah Paish are raising money for St John Ambulance

"It did surprise me and I'd like more people to learn first aid, so they can potentially be the difference between a life lost and a life saved in the future."

Lewis began volunteering two years ago after seeing a television advert, and wanted to learn first aid so he could then pass his skills on to others.

He said: "I'm jumping out of a plane so I can raise money which in turn can be used by the charity to provide community first aid courses and training equipment.

"You never know when you may need them, perhaps to help a family member, a friend or even a complete stranger."

Mia Broughton, St John Ambulance regional fundraising coordinator, said: "We hope everyone will get behind Hannah and Lewis and sponsor them to take part in our Superhero Skydive event."

Hannah and Lewis are hoping to raise £5,000 for St John Ambulance.

Council gets funding to develop care for adults

MORE than £450,000 has been awarded to Oxfordshire County Council to help develop the area's adult social care workforce.

A total of £458,799 was given to the council by Health Education Thames Valley, and will be used on a number of initiatives including the establishment of a behaviour-based recruitment scheme.

Other work will involve training and awareness programmes on assistive technology, such as sensors and alarms that allow people to be cared for in their own homes.

It is hoped that the project will help reduce unnecessary admissions to hospital, and will help with faster discharges for some patients.

Judith Heathcoat, cabinet member for adult social care, said: "I am delighted that we successfully bid for this grant and it will be money that will be put to excellent use locally by developing the local adult social care market.

"We have an ageing population and demand for social care is on the rise.

"One of this council's key priorities is to help people stay and be cared for in their own homes for as long as possible, and this cash will assist with the work involved in doing exactly that."

Specialist school will open soon

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• LVS Oxford's director of special educational needs Sarah Sherwood

A NEW school for children with autism and Asperger's is opening in Oxfordshire this September.

LVS Oxford in Begbroke, for 11 to 19-year-olds, will provide residential and day places to pupils with special educational needs.

The school, on the site of the former Begbroke Priory, is owned and managed by the Licensed Trade Charity, which runs a number of independent and specialist schools across the country.

Director of special educational needs, Sarah Sherwood, will oversee LVS Oxford.

She said: "My vision is employability and independent living skills for students will learning difficulties.

"Many experts in the field of autism say that 'when you've met one person with autism, you've met one person with autism' as a way of describing the very individual and unique presentation of each person on the spectrum.

"Over the years, I have found this to be a reminder of the individuality of the young people I have worked with."

Facilities at the school will include sports grounds, a school garden and a teaching kitchen.

A dedicated suite for teaching will also be set up for occupational therapies, along with a massage room where students can take part in sensory sessions.

Ms Sherwood added: "Specialist schools provide real opportunities for young people with autism.

"Our dedicated teaching staff and support specialists – sometimes with one on one teacher to student ratios – means that young people get the best chance to prepare for life outside of education."

The school will also look to encourage older students to undertake work experience in the local area, to develop their social skills and gain knowledge of life after school.

The revamp of the school's buildings is due to finish in the next few days.

For more information about the school, go to lvs-oxford.org.uk.

Funds on offer to animal charities

ANIMAL rescue centres in Oxford are being urged to nominate themselves for a share of £500,000 of funding from grant giving charity Support Adoption For Pets.

Grants of £50,000 each are available to animal charities nationwide, and those based in Oxford are being called upon to send in a video submission to try and earn funding.

Amy Wilson, charity manager at Support Adoption for Pets, said: "The £50,000 grants are available to animal rescue centres and welfare organisations, big or small.

"This is a fantastic opportunity for charities to receive a significant donation towards their individual fundrasing projects.

"We can't wait to view the video submissions. I'm sure there will be a few puppy dog eyes that make us pause for thought."

A shortlist will be chosen in a public vote, before Support Adoption For Pets' board of trustees make the final decision on July 15.

For more information, email info@supportadoptionforpets.co.uk.

Care changes

OXON: Mental health services for older adults in Oxfordshire are set to change, to provide more support for those aged over 65.

Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust has proposed a new model of care, which will see extended hours to services across the county, as well as increased integration between mental health and community health teams.

The changes come following a patient consultation, asking them what changes they wanted to see in local mental health services.

Vandal sought

OXFORD: A CCTV image has been released by British Transport Police of a woman who was seen hitting a door at Oxford Station, causing the glass to crack.

It happened on April 26 at 3.30am at the entrance to the station.

PCSO Zoe Hawkins said: "A woman approached the station concourse's entrance doors, which were closed and locked.

"Realising she couldn't gain access to the station, the woman hit the glass pane first with her hands and then with her high-heeled shoes, causing the glass to crack."

Inca appointed to run Oxfordshire Business

Making Sense of Apprenticeships

SMALL businesses in and around Oxford have the chance to find out about apprenticeships at the latest in a series of information events.

The Making Sense of Apprenticeships event on Thursday, June 12, runs from 9.30am until 11.30am at the Oxford Town Hall in St Aldate's.

It will give employers the chance to find out about the advantages of apprentices in the workplace, have their questions answered by a panel of experts and learn more about funding opportunities, including details of the Apprenticeship Grant for Employers.

They'll also be able to hear from other employers who have taken on apprentices and the apprentices themselves.

Renee Watson of Wats.on Consultancy attended a similar event earlier in the year.

She said: "This session was a revelation for me. I had no idea that an apprenticeship was a possibility for my company and now I am excited at the prospect of the added value my business will gain."

The Oxfordshire Apprenticeships event has been organised in partnership with Oxford City Council.

Economic development manager Robert Hetherington said: "Apprenticeships are really important in providing young people with employment opportunities in Oxford.

"Local businesses are the key to providing these opportunities and we want to make the process as simple and attractive as possible."

Oxfordshire Apprenticeships is a partnership project funded by Oxfordshire County Council.

Project manager Paddy Patterson said: "With school leavers now being required to stay in some form of education, apprenticeships are the perfect way to learn and earn at the same time, so it's a great time for local employers to learn how taking on an apprentice is easier than they think."

To find out more, visit makingsenseoxford.eventbrite.co.uk.

A SPECIALIST accounting practice for start-ups and small businesses has been appointed to manage Oxfordshire Business Enterprises (OBE), which offers free advice to business start-ups. Following the competitive process, Inca were picked take over management of OBE to support the county's pre-start-up and start-up businesses with face-to-face business advice and ongoing mentoring to help them succeed.

OBE is financed by grants from the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) and Oxfordshire County Council, and will be headed by Inca co-founder, Graham Carson.

Graham and his wife, Lesley, established Inca 11 years ago near Wantage, and have since developed their expertise in providing accounting and business advice to start-ups and small businesses in Oxfordshire and Berkshire.

Phil Shadbolt, member of the LEP's Board and Managing Director at Zeta Specialist Lighting Ltd, said: "We are confident that with Graham's business experience, he will be able to lead OBE in a positive direction through developing the proposition in addition to working with the LEP and other partner organisations."

By Iain Nicholson
news@oxfordshireguardian.co.uk

Graham said: "My core aims are to help expand the knowledge of advisors and businesses in the OBE network, in addition to increasing the number of businesses supported annually.

"We plan to ensure that business owners have access to training courses and learning materials as well as developing a new OBE interactive website to quickly connect business owners with the right advisors to address their questions virtually or in person."

Oxfordshire Business Enterprises is a non-profit making organisation and provides business advice on a one-to-one basis, which is free, confidential and available to anyone.

If you are thinking of starting a business or have recently started one in the Oxfordshire area, visit www.oxonbe.co.uk.

From cook to comedian

BROADCASTER and journalist Hardeep Singh Kohli is embarking on his first stand-up tour 'Hardeep Is Your Love', at Didcot's Cornerstone Theatre next Friday.

Hardeep has previously staged three nationwide cookery tours, but has taken a step away from the kitchen to speak about the pitfalls and triumphs of finding love.

"It's all about falling in love, sex and romance in middle age," he said.

"Audiences are really enjoying it, and I'm loving doing it. I'm single, so that bit's not going great, but this show is the best I've ever done.

"I've been doing the cooking show for four years, so I thought 'do I want to do another year of that or shall I step up and try this out?'

"I normally like doing ramblings and musings in the show, which work really well but for this I needed to tell a story. I've found that story."

Hardeep's love of Indian food is well known and was the focus of his 'Indian Takeaway' cookery shows, which was performed over the last few years.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

His affiliation with cooking started from a young age, and he still returns to his previous shows from time to time.

"I just think food and cooking is about bringing people together," Hardeep added. "It also tells you the culture of people by what they eat, it's constantly fascinating.

"I still do the odd cookery show here and there at food festivals, but I'm just really enjoying this at the moment. There's such joy that I can do this, so I'll do it for a while yet."

Following the tour, Hardeep is set to return to the airwaves with a BBC Radio 2 programme about the upcoming Commonwealth Games in his hometown of Glasgow, as well as new recordings of his series 'Sunday Lunch' on BBC Radio 4.

For more details about the show, go to cornerstone-arts.org.

ERNEST and the Pale Moon, a tale of obsession and murder, is staged at the Oxford Playhouse on Saturday.

The show focuses on Ernest's infatuation with the beautiful Gwendoline, and on seeing her with another man he is thrown into a jealous rage, driving him into a spiralling madness.

It starts at 7.30pm.

Alice in the war

A NEW adaptation of Alice in Wonderland, which is set during the First World War, will be staged at Oxford's Pegasus Theatre from today.

William's total strife

ELECTRONIC musician William Doyle, better known by stage name East India Youth, brings his synth-pop style to Oxford's O2 Academy next Tuesday.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The 22-year-old released his first album 'Total Strife Forever' earlier this year, featuring the songs 'Looking For Someone', 'Heaven, How Long' and 'Glitter Recession'.

William originally cut his teeth in indie group The Fourfathers as a teenager, but decided to go solo after becoming frustrated with the band format and slow progress of the group.

"My interest in electronic music, dance, ambient and noise was becoming more and more prevalent, and I had been recording a lot of tracks on the side," he said.

"That material later formed part of my demo. The day I finished this recording in May 2012 was the day I left the band."

He had been compiling 'Total Strife Forever' for a year and a half when he made the decision to leave the band, filling in the gaps in recording sessions over the space of a fortnight.

William's name for the band came from his temporary residence at East India Dock in London after leaving The Fourfathers, where he had previously spent time working on the album.

"The title 'Total Strife Forever' was simply a throwaway phrase I had written in one of my notebooks around the time of completing the track 'Total Strife Forever III'.

"It was one that I couldn't get out of my head, and related to the time of making the songs that would make up the record.

"It's been a long and intense process and in many ways it feels more of an extension of myself than a mere collection of songs and compositions.

"Never before has my life and my work intertwined so crucially and so successfully."

Doors open at 7pm on Tuesday. Go to o2academyoxford.co.uk for details.

Ford awarded the title of 'Van Manufacturer of the Year' for second successive time

New Transit is award-winner

FORD'S new transit range returned from this year's Van Fleet World Honours laden with five awards.

Judges at the prestigious awards ceremony at the Royal Automobile Club in London's Pall Mall dubbed the car company overall Van Manufacturer of the Year for the second time in a row.

There were awards for the recently launched Transit Connect, which won both Best New Van and Best Small Van categories, and for Transit Custom, which was judged Best Medium Van and also won the Security Award. The Ford Ranger earned Best Pick-Up.

Ford Transit has a history of success in the Fleet World Honours, which are presented by the trade publication to manufacturers, service companies and individuals for excellence in their sector.

It is the fifth year in a row that the Transit family has been recognised.

Van Fleet World managing editor John Kendall said of Ford's Van Manufacturer of the Year title: "Not a difficult choice for the judges given the comprehensive renewal of Ford's van range that is still going on.

"To date they have all been class-leading to drive, too, which makes Ford a worthy winner."

REVIEW: Ford Transit Connect
By Philip Shoulder
@writeonmotoring

Receiving the awards for Ford, Phil Hollins, director fleet operations, said: "In little over a year the market-leading Ford Transit range has been renewed and expanded to four models, from the new compact Transit Courier and Transit Connect, through Transit Custom to Transit, with its cargo capacity of more than two tonnes."

Of the Best New Van and Best Small Van award for the Transit Connect, editor of Van Fleet World Dan Gilkes said: "Transit Connect has taken a massive step forward this year, "offering increased load volume and carrying capacity, complete with some innovative load carrying solutions, such as the load-through bulkhead and fold-flat passenger seat. There have been changes under the bonnet, too."

He added: "Perhaps most importantly for drivers, though, is it remains a cracking van to drive."

Outlander PHEV: The revolutionary plug-in Hybrid

A greener way to commute

UK prices for the world's first plug-in hybrid SUV - the Mitsubishi Outlander PHEV - have been announced.

The PHEV range starts at £28,249 for the entry-level GX3h, which is the same as the equivalent Outlander diesel GX3 auto.

Along with laying claim to being the only plug-in hybrid on the market not carrying a price premium for its hybrid technology, the Japanese firm also says that the Outlander PHEV is the most practical vehicle that qualifies for the Government's £5,000 Plug-in Car Grant, with 5 seats, 4WD and a large (463 litre) boot.

The car's ultra-low CO2 emissions of 44 g/km also means there's no Vehicle Excise Duty (VED) payable.

Other highly specified variants of the Outlander PHEV include the GX4h at £32,899 and the £34,999 GX4hs.

The hybrid system comprises a 2.0-litre petrol engine fitted with Mitsubishi's Valve Timing Electronic Control and twin 80 bhp electric motors – one powering each axle – hooked up to a high-capacity 12.0 kWh lithium-ion battery pack. This results in a claimed official economy figure of 148 mpg, with the PHEV able to drive on electric-only propulsion for up to 32.5 miles.

Furthermore, three different driving modes work to derive the most energy efficient propulsion of the Outlander PHEV - EV Drive Mode, Series Hybrid Mode and Parallel Hybrid Mode.

Regenerative Braking also plays its part in assisting efficiency of the hybrid drive train. During deceleration, the motors function as generators so that electricity can be created to charge the drive battery.

The combination of conventional combustion engine and electric operation allows the Outlander PHEV to be efficient on shorter daily commutes and longer less frequent journeys.

The car's exterior style is reflected in the cabin, with what Mitsubishi call a 'simple yet tasteful design', incorporating high-quality materials, giving a rich, premium feel.

A crystal fibre-like dashboard 'envelopes' the driver, and there are ergonomic steering wheel controls and high-resolution, easy-to-read instrument displays including a hi-definition LCD multi-information display system. The base model gets 18" alloy wheels and includes cruise control, Bluetooth, leather steering wheel, privacy glass and electric folding/heated mirrors.

More premium models will boast extras such as a powered tailgate, wide-beam HID headlamps, DAB Radio, heated front seats, electric sunroof, reversing camera and sat-nav. The GX4hs adds adaptive cruise control, lane departure warning and forward collision mitigation system.

The all-new Outlander PHEV makes its entrance at Humphris Oxford this weekend - come and see us at 72 Rose Hill, Oxford, OX4 4HS or telephone 01865 748000.

We're not second best, says Jewell

LONDON Welsh centre Seb Jewell went into last night's play-off final against Bristol Rugby, calling on his team-mates to prove they are not second best.

The two sides faced off in the first leg at the Kassam Stadium as the Guardian went to print last night.

One thing the Exiles are not short on is steel and determination, something they proved in a thrilling 29-20 comeback victory in the semi-final second leg against Leeds Carnegie.

• Seb Jewell (Picture by Martin John)

However, Jewell knows there is no room for complacency against Bristol, who finished top of the league table in the regular season.

"It wasn't perfect against Leeds," he said. "So there's a steely determination.

"It sometimes may seem we're shouting at each other because we're getting angry, but it's more because we have expectations on ourselves.

"There is a lot of ability and a lot of pride and I'm excited and so proud of the boys."

Welsh finished second behind Bristol in the table and Jewell wants the Exiles to prove they are the best by winning the two-legged final to secure a return to the Aviva Premiership.

He said: "We've got a chip on our shoulder when it comes to Bristol.

"They are the form team, they won the league and we have to prove that we are not second and we are top."

For last night's full results from the match, go to oxfordshireguardian.co.uk.

Burnell excited for match

JUSTIN Burnell said he could not wait to welcome Bristol Rugby to Oxford for the first leg of the play-off final.

The two sides battled it out at the Kassam Stadium last night as the Guardian went to print.

Burnell, speaking after the 60-58 aggregate win over Leeds Carnegie, said: "We're back here for the first leg, which is pretty exciting, against Bristol. "What a fantastic atmosphere it was against Leeds, it's good to see the stadium coming to life."

Former England and Scotland coach Andy Robinson is Bristol's director of rugby, and the club made the headlines a few weeks ago when they signed ex-Wales captain Ryan Jones.

Burnell added: "It is going to be quite interesting.

"I think they have got more Welsh in their ranks now than we have so I don't know if it is going to be the battle of the Welsh or what, but that's what it is about.

"Andy Robinson, vast experience, Ryan Jones coming in, taking control, captain already, it's pretty interesting stuff. We can't wait."

'Excellent pro' Newey signs new deal with U's

OXFORD United manager Gary Waddock praised Tom Newey as an "excellent pro", as he announced the defender signed a new one year deal with the club this week.

The 31-year-old left-back made 47 appearances for the U's last season, scoring one goal which came at Oxford's 2-1 victory against AFC Wimbledon back in February.

Newey has now played over 400 senior games in his career, and is looking forward to the upcoming season.

"I'm really pleased to have signed," he said. "It is a good club with ambitions to keep moving forward and I have really enjoyed my time here.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"The first two thirds of the season showed what we can do, and I think there is a real feeling about the club that we want to put things right after the way it ended.

"Personally, I want to play in a successful side and signing for Oxford gives me that opportunity next season."

Waddock added: "Tom is a good player and an excellent pro. He knows the game, knows his position and is a great competitor.

"With Tom and Jake Wright signing, we now have a solid look to the left side of defence where Jon Meades can also play.

"We would like to add new faces to the squad as well and are working hard on that.

"We know the areas we would like to strengthen and have talked to a number of players who we believe would fit the bill."

Meanwhile former United winger Sean Rigg, who was released by Waddock earlier this month, has now signed a new deal with League Two rivals AFC Wimbledon on a free transfer.

Good result for Pepperell

EDDIE Pepperell enjoyed another strong performance at the BMW PGA Championship at Surrey's Wentworth course last weekend, finishing in a tie for 21st.

Rounds of 69, 73, 68 and 73 gave Pepperell a score of five under par, nine shots behind tournament winner Rory McIlroy.

It is Pepperell's best result of the season so far, and is the third tournament where he has made the cut in succession.

It also comes a year after he finished a career-best tied sixth at Wentworth in 2013.

Oxford RL suffer defeat

OXFORD Rugby League were beaten 30-24 by Hemel Stags on Sunday, meaning they have four wins and four losses from their season so far.

It means Oxford sit in the middle of the Rugby League Championship 1 standings with 13 points, 10 behind leaders York City Knights.

They next make the trip to Hunslet Hawks, who are currently second in the league, on Sunday afternoon.

Smith aims to beat Rossi in Italy

MOTOGP rider Bradley Smith will be hoping for more points at this weekend's Italian Grand Prix, taking place at Mugello.

Oxford-born Smith was 10th at the French Grand Prix in Le Mans on May 18, and is currently ninth in the world championship standings with 34 points after the first five races.

He came ninth at the track last year, but will be hoping to finish further up the field in the standings this time round.

"After the disappointment of Jerez and Le Mans, I know that my guys will come with something different and I'm excited to get to Mugello and try it out," Smith said.

"It's very undulating and so sorting out that weight balance on the bike is crucial.

"Look at (Yahama rider) Jorge Lorenzo's three victories there over the last three years, and we know that Valentino Rossi will be very fast.

"It will be great to have access to their data, and with Valentino Rossi making his 300th grand prix appearance in front of the home fans, the plan must be to chase him as hard as I can."

At the front, Honda rider Marc Marquez will be aiming for his sixth win out of six, after dominating the season so far.

Diddy sign four

DIDCOT Town captain Luke Carnell has been revealed as the club's first signing of pre-season.

The central defender made 48 league and cup appearances last season, scoring eight goals in the process.

He was announced by joint manager Ian Concannon last week, alongside fellow manager Jamie Heapy, defender Jack Longford and new signing Luke Abrahart, who joins from Thatcham Town.

"Luke Carnell is the cornerstone of what we're trying to do and he was very keen to stay, and we're delighted he's put pen to paper and will be with us for the forthcoming season," said Concannon.

"We've also got Luke Abrahart from Thatcham, he's come on-board so we're excited about that, as he comes from a good background.

"These are four signings which are key for us, and there's a few more to come."

Meanwhile, it was also announced that former Didcot player Paul McInnery passed away on May 17. His funeral is set to take place at Thatcham Crematorium tomorrow.

Dan's going for gold in Glasgow

A SHOOTER from Didcot has been selected to represent England at this year's Commonwealth Games in Glasgow.

Dan Rivers, 22, will take part in all three Small Bore Rifle events at the Games this July and August.

He was first talent-spotted aged 15 by the Great Britain development squad, and competed his first major event at the World Championships in 2010.

Dan is currently juggling full time employment as a vehicle technician with shooting, and has also benefited from funding from the GLL Sport Foundation to help develop his sporting prowess.

"I try to train as much as possible after work, whenever possible, while keeping a balance with having a social life," said Dan.

"It can be really difficult at times to fit it all in, so what I lose in quantity I make up in quality by setting goals and giving 100 per cent when I am training."

Peter Bundley, GLL Sport Foundation chairman, said: "It is crucial that we support the talent and enthusiasm of our young sporting stars.

"We can help young athletes bridge the difficult leap from regional to national level as they start to become ready for senior competition."

• Dan Rivers, who will compete for England at the Commonwealth Games this summer

Women stay last despite first point

OXFORD United Women picked up their first point of the season on Sunday, after they drew 2-2 with local rivals Reading.

It was Lauren Allison who snatched the point for the U's, thanks to a late header deep into injury time.

Reading had scored first just before the half-hour mark through Fran Kirby, as she beat two United defenders before firing into the top corner.

Kayleigh Hines equalised for Oxford shortly after the break against her old club, unleashing an unstoppable shot which flew in via the post.

With 10 minutes remaining, Reading restored their lead as Lauren Buton curled her effort into the goal from the corner of the box.

It looked as if Reading would hang on for the win, but Allison grabbed a late goal to spark celebrations from players and supporters alike.

Despite the point, Oxford remain at the bottom of the Women's Super League standings, two points adrift of the next-placed side Durham Women FC.

It is Durham who the U's will be facing next, and they are set to make the lengthy trip up to New Ferens Park on June 29.

RECOVERY DRIVE

FELIPE Massa recovered from a disastrous qualifying to come home seventh and collect six points at the Monaco Grand Prix on Sunday.

Massa's qualifying session ended early after Caterham driver Marcus Ericcson made a mistake as he went past the Williams driver, which left Massa with nowhere to go but into the barriers.

He started 16th as a result, and capitalised on other drivers' incidents to move up the field and into the points.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"I am very happy with seventh after starting 16th on the grid," said Massa.

"I made the most of the opportunities I had with other cars either making mistakes or retiring.

"Many things could have happened so I am pleased they worked out for the best. A tough weekend turned into a positive one."

But there was no luck for Valtteri Bottas, who retired from the race after his engine failed on lap 50 while running in the points.

He said: "We had an issue with the power unit, which is frustrating, and there are some investigations to do to find out exactly what happened.

"After the start I was quickly in the points so it could have been a good weekend."

Elsewhere, Lotus picked up more points as Romain Grosjean finished eighth, despite running near the back in the early stages of the race.

His team-mate Pastor Maldonado was unable to take the start, after an engine problem left him stranded on the grid.

The biggest smiles on the grid were at Banbury-based Marussia, who scored the first points in the team's four-year history as Jules Bianchi brought his car home ninth for two points.

Caterham also had a good race, as Ericcson recovered from his antics in qualifying to equal the team's best ever result by finishing 11th.
